New York May 9th 1836.

Whereas Mr. A. J. Yates has rendered an account of his disbursements as an agent for the Commissioners of Texas, and which account has been examined and approved by said Commissioners, and by which account, there appears a balance in favor of said Yates of four hundred and fifty one $^{97}/_{100}$, Therefore the Commissioners agree that if Messrs. Gouverneur & Co. shall subscribe to the Loan for Texas, opened in this City, the ten per cent advance on the amount subscribed by them, shall be credited on said account of A. J. Yates, provided said ten percent shall amount to said balance
