Treasury Department
13th April 1839

The claimants in this case appeal from so much of the decission of the Auditorial board in this case as directs their claim to be paid in Military Scrip instead of the promissory notes the Government. The said claim being for ~~services~~ cash advanced for supplies actually furnished the Government, & for which in other cases of similar character promissory notes were decreed to be given in payment.

The Undersigned acting Secy of the Treasury was not connected with the Auditorial board when this case was decided, & therefore cannot say upon what reasons the decission of the board was founded, but the facts are as above stated

James Webb
Acting Secy of the Treasury

In all cases were supplies was furnish without advancing cash for them, the Court decided to be paid in Military Scrip but in all cases were cash was advanced for supplies promissory notes & Interest was awarded
