Wells and says, on oath that the annexed discharge is true, and original, that he owes the Government nothing, either on his own account, or that of any other person, excepting forty dollars which he received in part of compensation of the services mentioned in said discharge. That he has not retained, sold, or embezzled any arms, munitions of war, or any other kind of public property whatever, or caused the same to have been done.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 21st day of December 1837.

Before me, A. Robb, Chief Justice of the county of Mina, Republic of Texas, personally came James A. Wells, and after being duly sworn, says, that he contracted with Col. A. Houston, Quartermaster General of Texas, for four dollars per day, for the time he should continue in the public service. That in addition to the time mentioned in the annexed discharge, he served twenty days more with his wagon and team, having received said discharge at San Jacinto, twenty days more, after the date of said discharge, having been given him to return home, to San Augustine, at which place he joined the service. That he has applied to Col. Houston for an official certificate of these facts, but has not received it. That the statements made in the annexed certificates, with regard to a horse which died in consequence of having been in the public service, are just and true.
