Treasury Department
2 Decr 1837

The papers submitted to this Department in the case J. G. Western containing certificates, remarks &c without the original account; as such I only judge of the principle involved in the objections of the Controller and the grounds occupied by the auditor And if that be a fair view of the case, and no other difficulty growing out of the account I am bound to consider that the auditors has made a fair and equitable estimate in as much as no better proofs could possibly be adduced If this should be all the objections, let the account pass

Respectfully
Henry Smith
