John D Newell maketh oath and saith that he was called upon with Thomas Jamison to appraise a horse belonging to D.W. Buckner which was impressed into the service of the Republic by Major Smith of the army for the purpose of hauling the cannon belonging to the army, and that he afterwards saw the said horse in the team hauling a cannon. The horse was pressed early in the month of April 1836 and they appraised him at one hundred & thirty dollars and he verily believes that the horse was worth that amount.
