city and the Coast at the East end of the Island etc under the command of Captain Stephenson. After remaining at Galveston as above stated, affiant and his company were ordered to go and to Arcanas Bay where they were taken on to assist in a prize schooner which the Texans had captured from the Mexicans. This removal from Galveston to Arcanas Bay was to enable this company to join other companies, with the view of proceeding to the Rio Grande and driving the Mexicans out of Texas. This company remained at, and near Arcanas Bay, until the company was disbanded finding that the Texans were not recognizing them at the Bay as the Texans had promised & as they expected. affiant thinks that this company was disbanded in the month of August, 1842. the company was disbanded by Capt. Stephenson & Col Clemens with other companies in the barren country near the Bay, near the residence of General Lamar, without giving affiant or any of the volunteers written discharges.

Col. Jere Clemens was Col. of the Regiment, embracing Capt. Stephenson's company. A. M. Thatcher was first Lieutenant of Capt. Stephenson's company & Jas Martin was Adjutant of the Regiment.

This company paid their own expenses. Affiant has never received any pay or remuneration either in land or money for his said services under the command of Capt. Stephenson either from the Republic of Texas or from any other source whatever.
