different parts of the U. States for the same purpose. —

I hastened my departure from the city of New York for my adopted country for the purpose of participating in the struggle for our constitutional rights. Just before leaving the city, I had a conversation with yourself, urging you to use your influence in our favor, and remarked that we stood in great need of pecuniary aid for the purpose of defence. You remarked that you were aware of this, and had just written to Col. Frost Thorn, of Macogdoches, to draw on you for $1000, to be applied to the sustaining Texas against oppression.

On my way home, in Georgia, I cooked and passed two full companies of volunteers on their march to Texas by way of New Orleans. In reaction N.C., I found several Texans there, who were using their exertions to obtain men and means, and among them was Col. Frost Thorn, of Macogdoches. I mentioned to him that there were two full companies of Georgians on their way, and that it was necessary to raise the means for their transportation and the purchase of supplies for them. The volunteers arrived in N.C.
