Ira is now in indigent circumstances — unable to make a support for himself and is wholly dependant on charity for support —

He is now living at my house — and if I did not care for him he would have to suffer — He would never apply for a pension until he got in such indigent circumstances that he could not support himself —

M. A. Spears