To the best of your deponents knowledge & belief the said Johnston was a duly enrolled soldier in the war of the revolution which terminated in the separation of Texas from Mexico for the term of about one year more or less and that the Regt or Company in which said service was performed are to your deponent unknown further than has been stated. Further that in the opinion of your deponent the claimant is still a great sufferer from the wounds and injuries received as before described and is justly entitled to a Pension for disease and for wounds received in the service of the Republic of Texas under the Pension Act approved Aug 13. 1870.
