State of Kentucky
County of Marion:

This day personally appeared before me, clerk of Marion County Court Kentucky, A. Corley and H. T. Jackson to me well known who after being duly sworn depose and say:

We were intimately acquainted with J. J. White who served as orderly sergeant in the Texas Revolution of 1836 in the war with Mexico and who died on the 24th day of Sept. A.D. 1871; we knew him well before he married and were intimately acquainted with his wife "Hellen", now his widow, Helen Alvey was the sister of the wife of one of the deponents (A. Corley). We state that we were both present at the marriage of the said J. J. White to Hellen Alvey which took place at the residence of A. Corley in Lebanon Ky on the 13th day of February 1840; the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Ewing dec'd. One of the deponents, H. T. Jackson, states that he was given to J. J. White. The deponents further state that the records of marriages in Marion County Ky. in which County said Marriage took place
