He said that he had offered them to Clark and Clark had refused to give him his receipt — What share the Old Lady owned I know not perhaps a thousand head or more. I think is within the mark. Her own children of whom there are several owned some portion of the 2500 head. They owned sheep a short time before they owned a good many Jacks and Jennies I have seen more than seventy five $ per Head for Cattle taking the whole stock would have been at that time about a fair price or value the Mules would about average $15 per Head — I never heard of Mrs De Leon regaining any of her property
